Who is SungBeats?

SungBeats is beatbox, live-looping champion from NYC who is taking vocal music to new heights. With only a microphone and a loop pedal, Sung creates high-energy music by layering vocal percussion and sound effects live with his mouth.

Customized Corporate Show

SungBeats can invite CEOs, speakers, and other executives to the stage and make live music sampling their voices. The goal is to entertain, excite, and inspire your attendees with a unique musical act that will make your event truly unforgettable. No show is ever the same.

Make Your Brand a Part of the Show

SungBeats can integrate your company brand, theme or slogan into his beatbox looping performance. He can also sample and record sounds from physical objects (think product launch) into his music. Your brand is the show.

Interactive Show

SungBeats can interact with the crowd by arranging a beatbox jam with your executives on stage, orchestrating a team building vocal exercise with the audience, and having attendees "vocal scratch" company buzzwords. In any scenario, SungBeats is dedicated to creating a memorable show that everyone will be talking about.
